DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 15, 16, 18-20, 22, 23, 24, 25, 27 and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Edling (USPN 5,766,962). Edling discloses a system composed of a guard 16 and power tool comprising a rotation-prevent means with a blocking means 20 on a guard side and a corresponding stop means 19 on a power tool side, wherein the rotation-prevent means can be triggered by an insertion tool 14, wherein the rotation-prevent means providing blocking of rotation of the guard 16 is independent of tightening torque used to attached the guard, wherein rotation-prevent means limits rotation of the guard 16 to a narrow angular range or entirely prevents rotation of the guard 16, wherein the blocking means 20 and stop means 19 are aligned correspondingly to each other so that an angular range within rotation is permitted can be actively specified (note Fig. 1-3, col. 1, line 47 to col. 2, line 58).
3. Claims 15-17 and 19-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hausslein et al (USPN 5,386,667). Hausslein et al discloses a system composed of a guard 10 and a power tool comprising a rotation-prevent means with a blocking means 18 on the guard side and with a corresponding stop means 19 on the power tool side, wherein the entire rotation-prevent means is located inside the collar 17 of the guard 10, wherein the guard 10 can be fixed in any position in a limiting groove 19, wherein a collar 17 including an insertion groove 22 with a limiting groove 19 located at an angle thereto (note Fig. 1, col. 2, line 59 to col. 3, line 45).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-14 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
